ECON 0150 | Economic Data Analysis

The economist's data analysis pipeline.

Welcome Survey Results

Where are you coming from?

Lets measure your hometown using distance

Where are you coming from?

Lets measure your hometown using distance

> quite a few people coming internationally :)

> lets zoom in a bit to see more details about closer distances

Where are you coming from?

Lets measure your hometown using distance

> so many from Pittsburgh and the Philly area

When were you born?

Lets use birthyear

When were you born?

Lets use birthyear

> so most were born in 2005

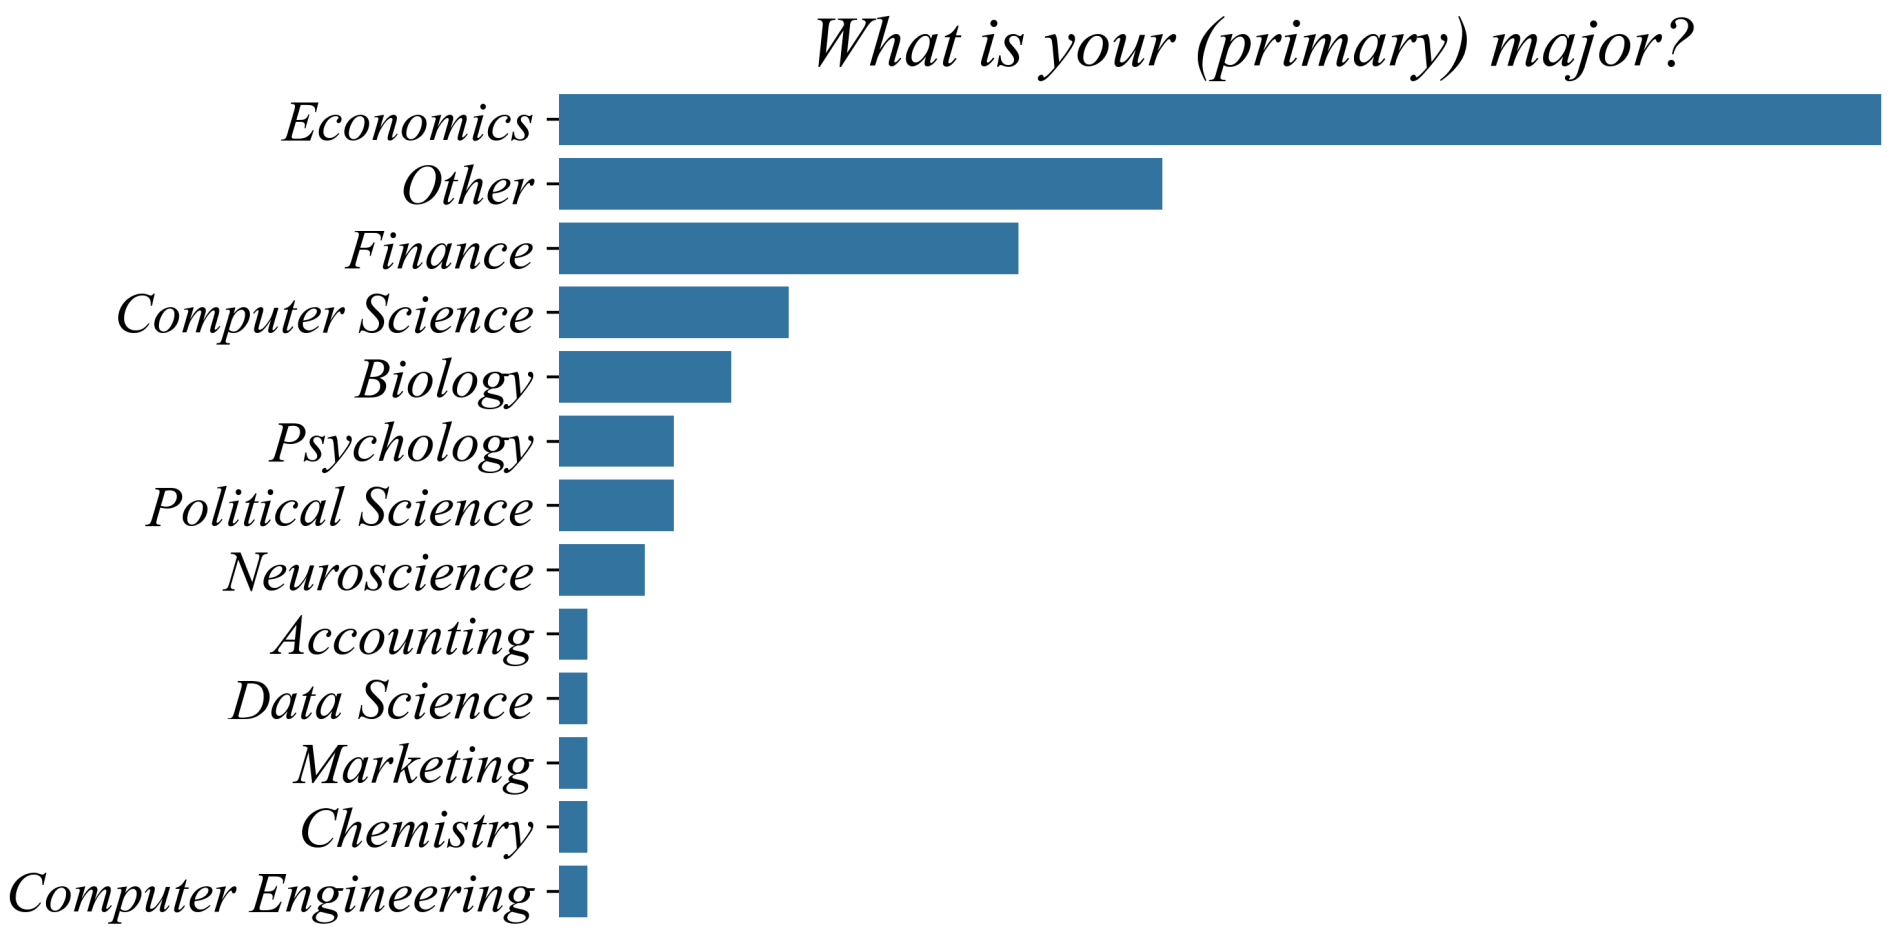
What is your major?

Sorry if you're not on the list or have multiple :)

What is your major?

Sorry if you're not on the list or have multiple :)



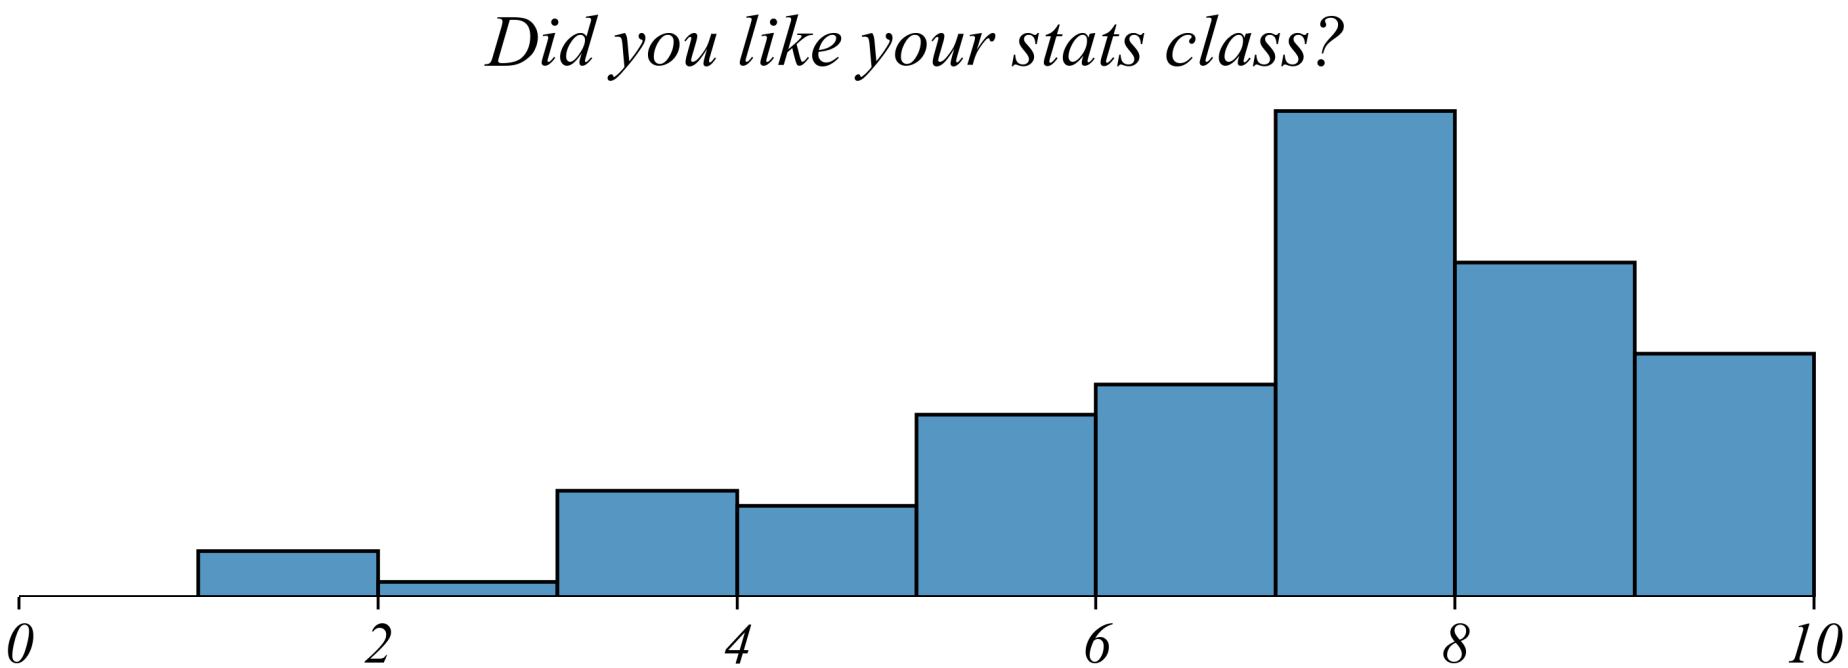
> so most are Econ and many not on my limited list

Did you like your stats class?

It's a prereq for the class

Did you like your stats class?

It's a prereq for the class



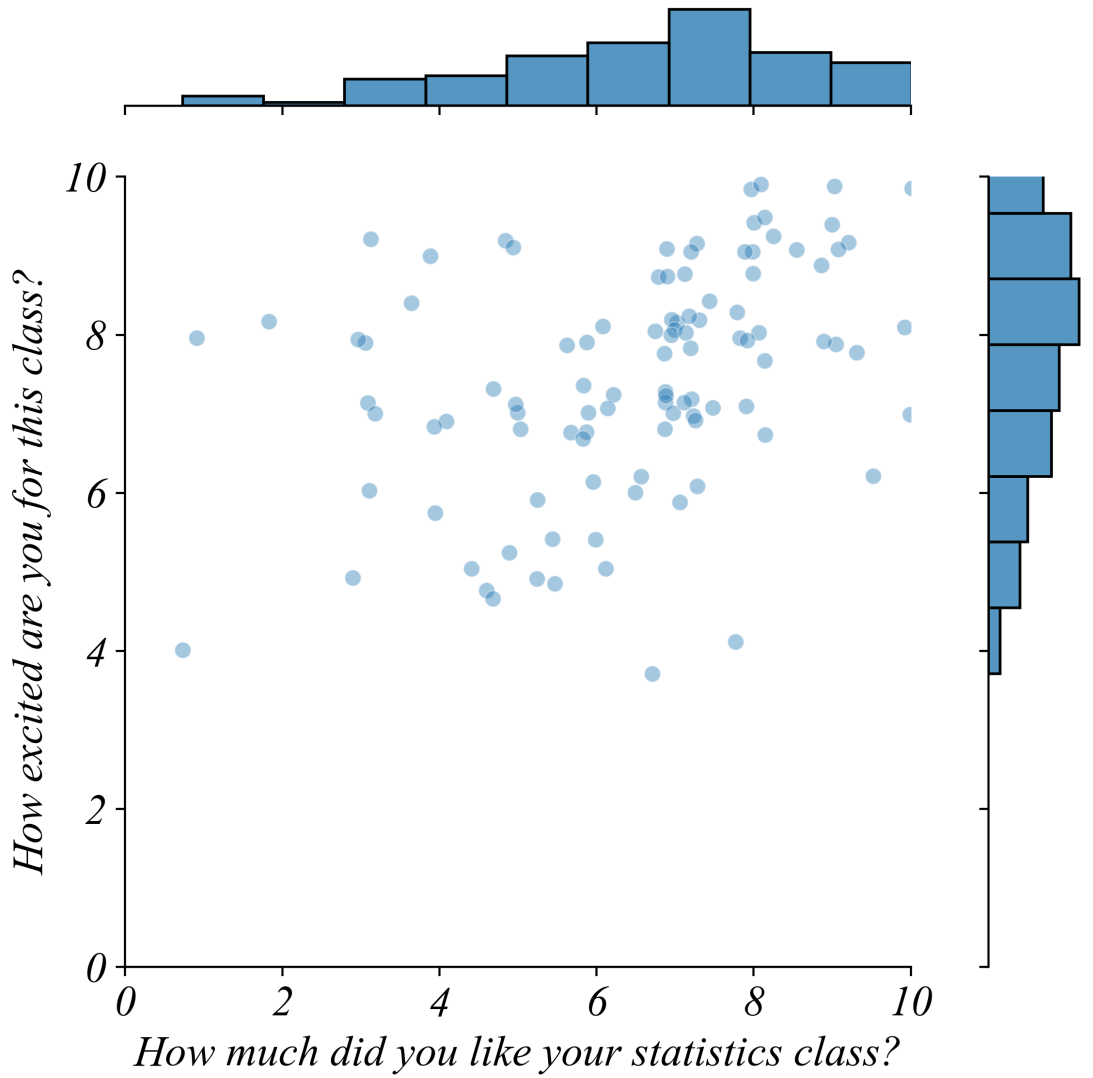
> so most generally liked it; some did not

Did you like your stats class?

It's a prereq for the class

Is stats related to your excitement for this class?

I would suspect a positive relationship

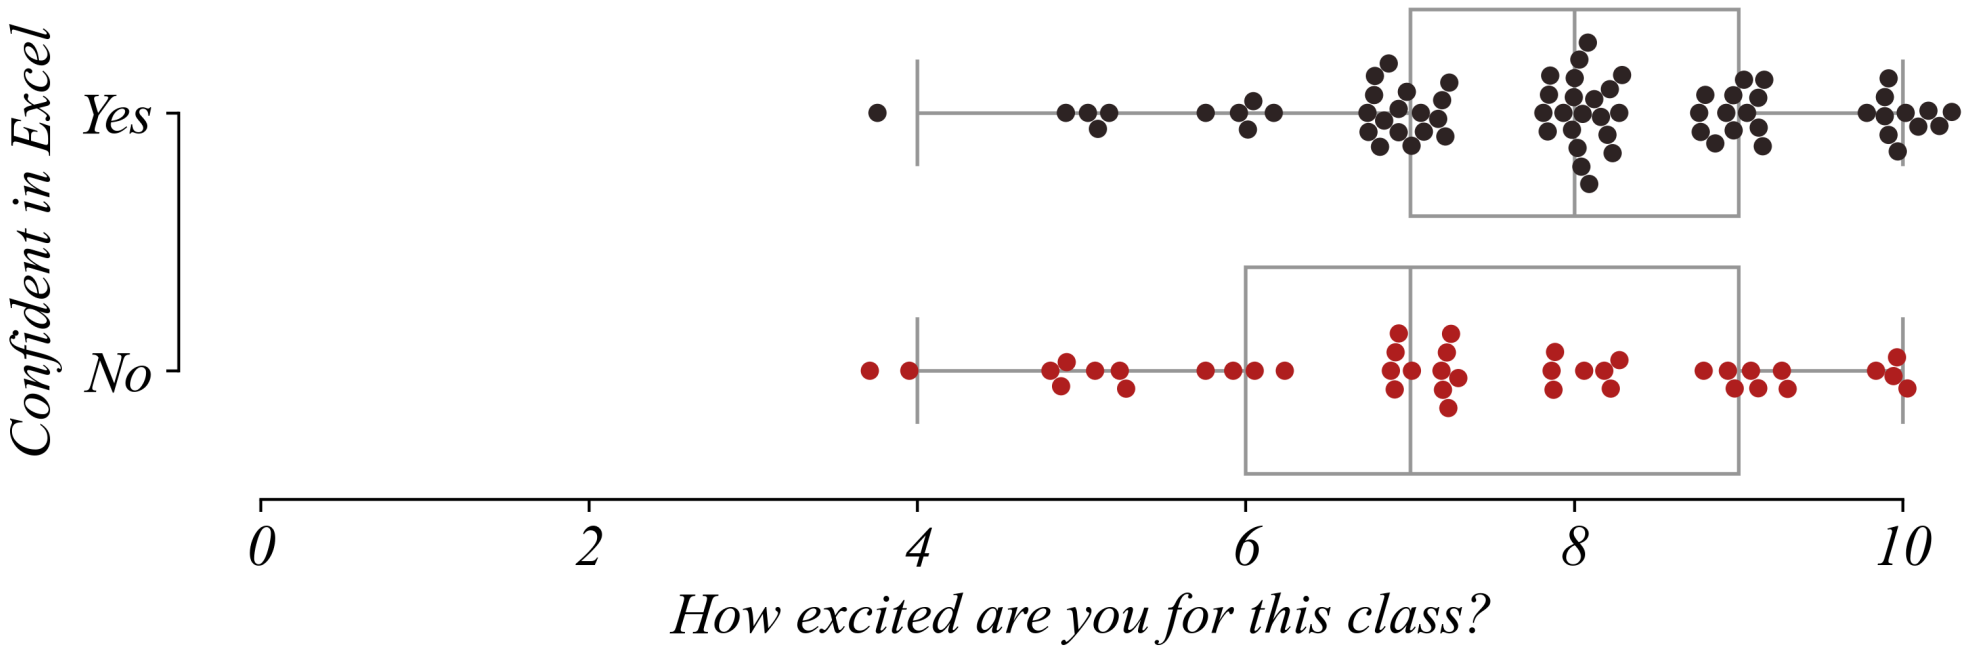


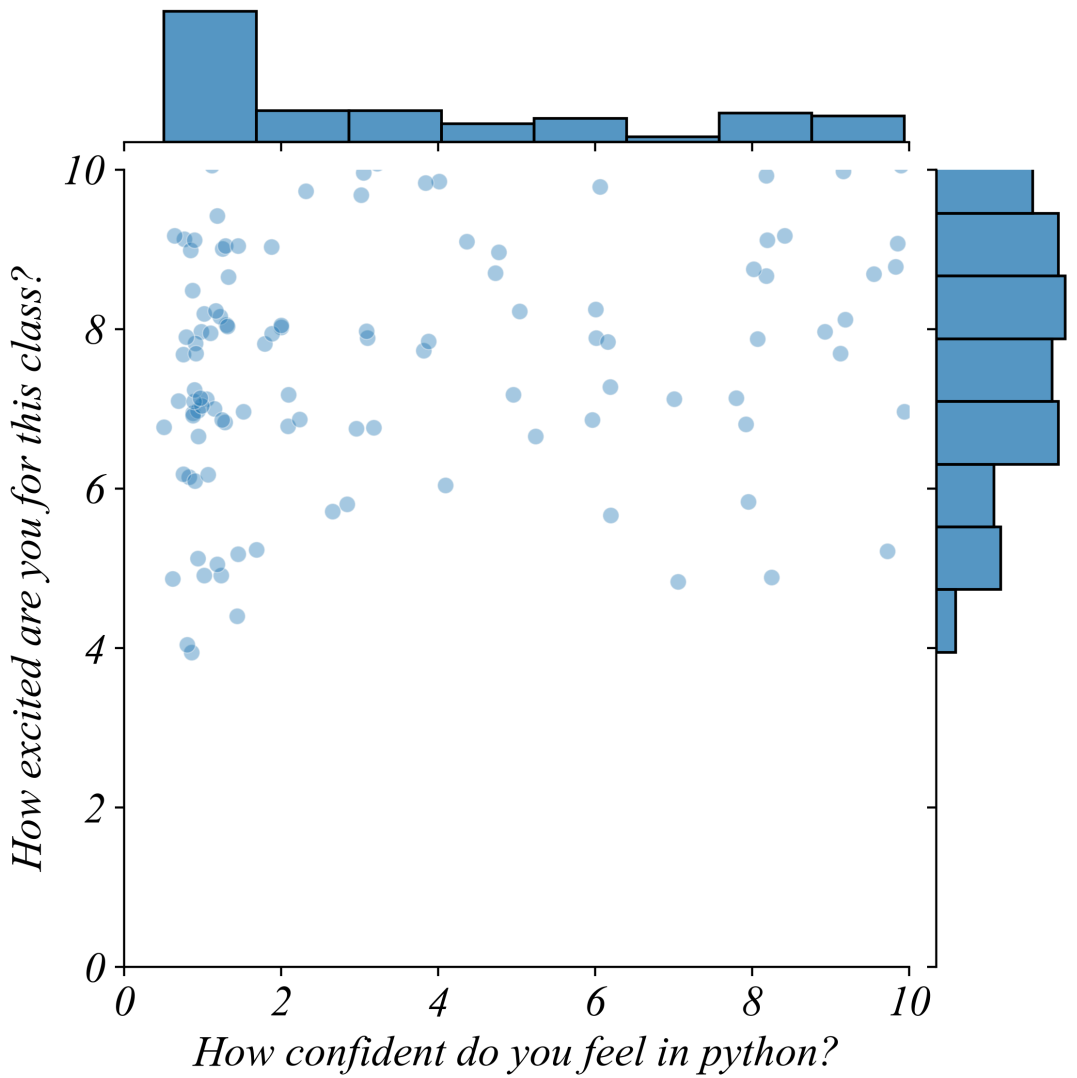
Is confidence in Excel related to class excitement?

I would expect it is

Is confidence in Excel related to class excitement?

I would expect it is



Is confidence in python related to excitement?


Again I would expect it is